

Learning and Performance Solutions

Maximize the potential of your most valuable asset: People

Many corporate executives appreciate the role that their people play in strategy and execution. They also realize that understanding exactly how to quantify and measure employee performance is critical. When organizations take a targeted approach in recruiting, selecting and developing their core talent, they are 6 times as likely to achieve their strategic objectives. Developing a learning program that is consistent with today's business realities starts with these questions:

- How can I engage Millennials and at the same time train a multi-generational workforce?
- Can I offer informal and point-of-need learning opportunities while maintaining regulatory compliance?
- Can blended learning increase the availability and accessibility of instructional content?
- How do I know the solution will drive the results I need?

Rite-Solutions can help you find the answers.

Access our experience in helping companies drive performance.

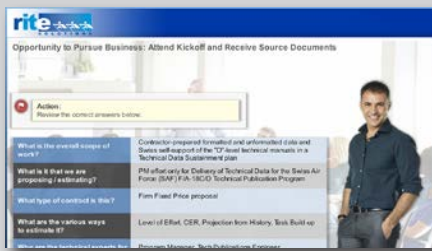

Our performance optimization portfolio helps unlock the full potential of your workforce so you can:

- align your people with your organizational mission, strategy, and value proposition.
- accelerate performance through the development of critical job knowledge and skills.
- optimize employee engagement, workforce innovation, and organizational culture.

Put our innovative thinking and experience to work for you.

From aerospace to manufacturing, from healthcare to professional and financial services, we deliver solutions that are on time and on budget. Take a look at a few of our performance-driven solutions – we'll bring the same ingenuity and creativity to your project.

Blended Learning

Blended curriculum using Articulate Storyline, Structured On the Job Training and a Community of Practice

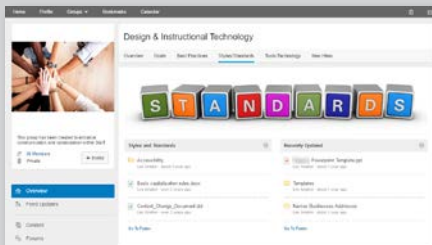

Multi-Modal Training

Multi-modal solution using common content to develop WBT, ILT, and simulations

Simulations

Immersive situational awareness training for team and role based decision making

Performance Support

Structured point of need resources

Instructor Led Training

Multi-day sales process training using case study-based collaborative activities

Micro-Learning

Micro-learning developed for quick access on Blackboard collaborative learning site

A methodology and approach as dynamic as your organizational needs.

Let's be CLEAR. From start to finish, Rite-Solutions will:

Our results-driven team of accomplished project managers, consultants, instructional designers, and technologists has over 100 years' of combined industry experience, and dozens of awards from ATD, Brandon Hall and Bersin.